SALEM ASKS $3,000;
$400 LISBON QUOTA

Eleven Townships Will Be Solicited, Along With
Salem Section

Organization plans for the United Service Organizations campaign to raise funds to equip and maintain recreational centers for soldiers and sailors throughout the country, were discussed at a meeting of the Salem and Northern Columbiana county defense fund leaders in the Memorial building last night.

Methods used to raise the Mahoning county fund were explained by Andrew O. Fleming, secretary of the Community Chest association in Youngstown, who also gave valuable advice to the Salem committee as to how to perfect its organization.

Set Township Quotas

The quota here has been set at $3,000 and a quota of $400 has been given to Lisbon and Center township, under the chairmanship of Rev. J. M. Cameron of Lisbon. Eleven townships in the northern half of the county will be solicited at the same time the Salem campaign is going on, and it is planned to give each township a separate quota. The Salem committee, of which R. S. McCulloch is chairman, will outline the campaign in these townships, but the larger towns will have their own chairmen and committees.

Attending last night's meeting were Rev. J. M. Cameron, Mrs. William Morgan, Henry T. Dawes, Dallas Hepburn, Dr. A. E. Jones and George C. Porter of the Lisbon committee, and Joseph Moran, county Boy Scout executive. Rev. Cameron announced that Lisbon already had raised half of its quota.

Other Leaders Active

W. B. Miller is chairman of the Columbiana campaign, Mayor Walter Hunston is the East Palestine chairman, and Leetonia is perfecting its organization. J. H. Sinclair of Hanoverton will have supervision over Hanover, and will select leaders for each township. Work in the rural sections is under the direction of Atty. Ralph Atkinson.

In Salem, campaign envelopes will be distributed Friday by Boy and Girl Scouts. Teams have been selected to collect these envelopes with the contributions next Tuesday.

DEMOCRATS DIG TO PAY HOTEL CHARGE

COLUMBUS, June 18.—State Democratic headquarters still is intact today—because some of the party faithful dug down and staved off a threatened eviction.

Faced with a $2,300 unpaid bill from the Neil House, where headquarters is located in three rooms, State Chairman J. Freer Bittinger picked up the telephone yesterday and raised enough funds to pay more than a quarter of the bill.

Bittinger said he hoped to raise the balance in two weeks. Until then, the hotel permitted the Democrats to stay.

Lease-Lend Story
Is Told In Detail
In Big, Black Book

Circulation Very Exclusive—Only 2 Copies; But It'll Be Well Read After War, For It Tells What Must Be Repaid

(By the Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 18.—The story of United States lend-lease aid to Great Britain is in a big black book.

You can't look in the book, because it has a very exclusive circulation. There are only two copies. President Roosevelt has one and Harry L. Hopkins, his assistant in charge of lend-lease, has the other.

You might find it dull reading, anyway. It is packed so full of figures that microfilm pictures of the huge statistical tables were inserted in the books to keep them down to reasonable size.

SPECIAL OFFICER TO SPUR TRAFFIC

Beginning Saturday night, traffic at the E. State st. and Lundy ave. intersection, one of the busiest in the downtown section, will be expedited by a special patrolman.

Council authorized the employment of a special officer, for a three-hour period on Saturday nights at this point, for the summer season, as result of a suggestion by Councilman Charles Rheutan.

Rheutan emphasized the hazard to both to pedestrians and automobile owners, at this intersection, during the busy period on Saturday nights, and expressed the opinion that the value of a patrolman, who could handle traffic more efficiently than the traffic signal could, would more than offset the cost, which he estimated at about $25 for the entire summer period.

STEEL ACTION
TURNED DOWN

Anti-Trust Suit Against
CIO Dismissed by District Court

(By Associated Press.)
CLEVELAND, June 18.—Republic Steel Corp.'s anti-trust suit asking $7,500,000 damages from the CIO and various leaders and affiliated organizations as a result of the 1937 steel strike was dismissed in federal district court today.

Upholding a CIO plea for dismissal, Judge Robert N. Wilkin said in a brief opinion that Republic's allegations "do not constitute a cause of action" under the anti-trust laws in light of a U. S. Supreme Court ruling in the Apex Hosiery case.

The Apex decision concerned a company's right to sue a labor union for damages under the Sherman Act. Apex Hosiery Co. of Philadelphia, scene of a seven-week sit-down strike in 1937, won a district court verdict against a CIO union for about $700,000 damages, but the verdict was reversed by a circuit court which in turn was upheld by the supreme court.

Republic, which had argued that a trial was necessary to determine whether the Apex decision was applicable, gave no immediate indication whether it would appeal today's ruling.

Mrs. Edward Thomas and Miss Rachel Lou Keister, the primary department; Miss Alice Bergman and Mrs. Clifford Allison the junior department; Mrs. Wade Schaefer and Miss Helen Starbuck of the intermediate department, and Mrs. Noble Keck the senior department.

Miss Ruth Bowman and Miss Evelyn Wagner are secretaries. The senior boys' handwork is conducted by Robert Cibula, Paul Bankirk Jr., and Rev. G. D. Keister. The public is invited to the demonstration program.

IMMIGRATION
BARS BOOSTED

Government Also Halts
Departure of German Nationals

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Sharp control over immigration into the United States is to be instituted before July 1, authoritative sources declared today, a few hours after the government had barred the departure "pending further instructions" of any of the 330,000 German nationals now living in this country.

Boards of review will be established to pass on all applications for immigrant visas, after each application has been thoroughly investigated.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—A strong German protest on the expulsion of Nazi consuls from the United States was delivered to the state department today, and Sumner Welles, under-secretary of state, indicated it would be flatly rejected.

Applications for the annual quota of 153,774 immigrant visas at present are passed on by field officers of the immigration bureau after—so Attorney General Jackson told congress—"a rather haphazard" investigation of the prospective citizens' qualifications and history.

"Haphazard" Investigation

The state, justice, war and navy departments will have one representative on each of the five boards of review to be set up. It was learned with the possibility that the Federal Bureau of Investigation or a special immigration investigation agency will also be represented.

The army and navy representation is particularly designed to prevent fifth columnists or subversive turn to IMMIGRATIONS, Page 8

Judy Canova, Moonstruck,
Weds A.W.O.L. Corporal

HOLLYWOOD, June 18.—Hollywood's bridal path is paved with intentions. . . . Judy Canova really didn't intend to be married when she went to Honolulu. But up slipped a moonbeam and "hit me on the head." So what could a girl do?

Judy married Corp. James H. Ripley, she said reluctantly on her return by Clipper plane. The reluctance, she added, was because "I didn't want to shock his mother, who is seriously ill, or my mother, who didn't know of my plans for getting married."

Miss Canova, a flighty hillbilly in the movies, met Ripley in Jacksonville, Fla., her former home. Ripley was placed in the army guardhouse at Honolulu as a penalty for being A. W. O. L. Saturday night. That's when the moonbeam slipped up on him and Judy.

VICTORY IN EGYPT

British Report Taking New Positions in Fighting
Near Salum

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 18.—Big squadrons of British bombers, smashing at western Germany for the seventh successive night, set many fires and caused widespread destruction in the industrial cities of Cologne and Dusseldorf, the air raid ministry said today.

Boosted apparently by new American-built planes, the British smashed also at Nazi shipping and the occupied ports of Rotterdam, Ostend, Boulogne and Cherbourg in a night sweep of the North sea and English channel coasts from France to The Netherlands.

These raids, described officially as "subsidiary," were made not only by the usual bomber and coastal command squadrons but also by planes of the fleet air arm. One report said 150 British aircraft struck against the Nazi-held French coast in the evening.

AXIS CLAIMS VICTORY

(By Associated Press.)
Germany and Italy "reported" "complete and overwhelming victory" today in smashing a British counter-offensive after a violent 3-day battle in the desert around Salum, Egypt.

"The enemy, overwhelmed, is retreating," the German high command said.

An Italian war bulletin declared the British had thrown "ponderous masses of tanks supported by the best part of the Middle Eastern air force" into the conflict—only to be rushed by the "overpowering impetus" of Axis counter-attacks.

British Middle East headquarters acknowledged that British advance forces—which had knifed as deep as 40 miles into Libya—had withdrawn to "forward positions" on the Libyan front.

This presumably meant that the British had fallen back to their original positions from which the drive was launched.

The withdrawal was executed, the British said, to avoid an encircling movement by German reinforcements rushed from the Tobruk area and because "we had accomplished our object" of making the Germans disclose their strength.

American Tanks Used

Stefani, the official Italian news agency, said the British used "hundreds of American tanks," mostly the newest type known as "mark two."

The news agency said the British also used strong forces of motorized troops and a great quantity of artillery and air strength.

Capture of "several hundred German prisoners" and the destruction of large numbers of Axis tanks and guns was officially reported by the British.

The Fascist communique asserted that Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell's counter-offensive had been "broken" with British troops retreating under heavy fire by Axis land and air forces.

The communique declared that severe losses had been inflicted on the British, especially in tanks, and that the battle was ended. London dispatches said the British had captured Fort Capuzzo, just inside the Libyan frontier from Egypt, and had encountered serious opposition.

Leonard Quinn, 16, 1274 N. Ellsworth ave. was in the Salem City hospital today as the result of injuries sustained when a motorcycle he was riding collided with a car operated by Joseph Vild, 999 Prospect st., on Route 45 near Eagleton's Glen at 8:30 last night.

Frank, 19, a brother of Leonard, and a passenger on the motorcycle was discharged from the hospital after treatment for face lacerations. Quinn, who received head lacerations and bruises of the face and body, reported to the highway patrol that he was blinded by the lights of Vild's car while passing another.

Liverpool Man Injured

In another accident reported to the patrol, Harvey Hickman, East Liverpool, suffered lacerations of the left eye and cheek when his car and a truck operated by Lester Schlosser of Canton sideswiped on Route 7 two miles north of the Route 30 intersection, at 8:30 last night.

Mrs. Esther Edgerton and daughter, Janice, of North Lima, were given first aid treatment at Salem City hospital yesterday afternoon following a minor accident a mile south of Deerfield. They were passengers in a car driven by John Yoder, R. D. 1, North Lima, when it failed to make a turn and ran off the road into a field.

Five or six cars received minor dents and scratches when they jammed up behind a Salem-Alliance bus as it stopped one mile west of Salem late yesterday afternoon, the highway patrol reported.

Three Arrests Lasted

The patrol also listed three arrests. Leo Vaughn, was committed to the county jail on failure to pay a fine of $50 and costs assessed by Mayor Norman Phillips this morning. Vaughn was arrested three times in three successive months for reckless driving, the patrol charged.

Henrietta Burt, R. D. 2, Columbiana, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Arthur Myers of Columbiana after her arrest by the highway patrol on a charge of speeding.

Joseph Schultz, New York City, was fined $10 and costs on a similar charge by Justice of the Peace S. S. Weaver in Columbiana.

CITY TO VOTE

ISSUE AUG. 12

Tenth St. and Highland
Ave. Program Discussed
By Solons

McKINLEY HEIGHTS
ESTIMATES FILED

N. Ellsworth and State St.
Paving Repair Work
Recommended

Salem voters will be asked, at the primary election Aug. 12, to approve a municipal levy, of one mill, for three years, to provide funds for sewer purposes.

Action to place the issue on the ballots was taken by members of city council, meeting last night, at the suggestion of Councilman A. P. Morris.

"The need of funds with which to take care of sewer construction and repairs has never been more pronounced than it is at the present time," Morris said, "with considerable work under way and more contemplated."

"City council in recent years has kept faith with the public by keeping bond issues to a minimum, thereby reducing the public debt. We believe that the public will approve the levy as a means of sound financing."

A similar levy, along with several other special issues, was defeated at the general election last fall.

Special Meeting Called
In order to expedite legislation preliminary to certifying the issue to the board of elections, council will hold a special meeting Friday night.

Council was notified by City Engineer P. S. Barkhoff that the city had been given a lift in its sewer program through action of Highland ave. and Tenth st. property owners who propose the installation of sewers at no cost, so far as the sewer installation is concerned, to the city.

Work has already started on Tenth st. It was moved by Councilman Harry Vincent, therefore, with a second by Fred Koenreth, that the city officially announce its approval, although a permit has already been issued by the engineer, with the provision that the sewer be laid along the curb line, inside the curb itself.

The Highland ave. installation as proposed, was referred to the sewer committee for further study. It was pointed out by Engineer Barkhoff that the sewer proposal developed rapidly, and he, therefore, had been unable previously to bring it to council's attention.

Estimates on McKinley Heights sanitary sewers, submitted by the engineer, were referred to the sewer committee. For sewer installation in the Roosevelt, Madison and State st. areas, Barkhoff estimated the total cost would be $8,501.50, less 2 per cent, the city's portion, or $8,331.03, including: For six-inch pipe, $1,045; manholes, $1,000; eight inch pipe, $5,440; three tons of 8-T, $16.50; sump pump and pump controls, $960; and inspection, $100.

Paving Repair Recommended
C. F. Zimmerman called council's attention to the condition of N. Ellsworth ave., paving and a section of W. State st., just off the intersection with Ellsworth.

He announced that it was the recommendation of the streets committee that Service Director Charles Kennedy be instructed to dig up bricks from the damaged sections on N. Ellsworth ave., fill the holes with slag and re-lay the brick. He recommended that a section of W. State st., including an area about 40 or 50 feet west of the intersection, be repaired by filling the holes with slag and covering with black top finish.

Zimmerman pointed out that in view of depleted municipal finances, the repair work as proposed by his committee is the best that can be done at the present time but will be, in any event, a decided improvement over conditions as they are.

Referring to city finances, Morris informed council that health department requests for salary restorations must necessarily be disposed of in the same manner as requests from police and firemen two weeks ago, because of lack of money. Nothing can be done at present, Morris said.

Start Survey Thursday
Councilman Arch Wentz, chairman of the water committee, informed council that contracts have been signed for a complete survey of the local water system and the work is scheduled to get under way Thursday.

Action on a proposal for limited parking on the west side of S. Ellsworth ave., between Wilson and Railroad sts. has been postponed temporarily, Councilman Rheutan announced. Rheutan also announced plans for a special committee meeting to discuss parking matters.

NO MORE STANDING ON CEREMONY

The presidential order closing German consulates and propaganda bureaus is the natural sequel to the order freezing German funds. Without funds, the consulates probably would have nailed up the shutters anyway.

Persons who break out in a cold sweat at the thought of slapping Nazi Germany on the wrist should remind themselves of two things. Because there is no trade at present with Germany, the only possible activity of a consulate is to help Germany win the war. The idea of permitting agents of a foreign government avowedly hostile to the policy of the United States to carry on their activities from consular offices is enough to cause not one but two cold sweats. When this government informs Germany that it has evidence of irregular behavior on the part of its consular and propaganda agencies, the Germans don't need to be told any more. They know what they've been doing.

The other thing that should be kept in mind is that the United States still has not severed diplomatic relations with Germany. It is permitting the German embassy to remain open and presumably would accept an ambassador if Germany cared to send one to Washington. Consular and propaganda officials are not in the same legal classification as ambassadors, who are representatives of rulers and states and therefore held to be immune from laws of the state to which they are assigned. All other officials, however, are subject to the laws.

The United States government, which has evidence of illegal acts, had no choice but to inform Germany that it was tired of standing on ceremony and wanted that country's agents called home. It goes without saying that Germany never would have been as patient with United States employees similarly occupied in Germany.

READING THE CUSTOMARY WHIRLWIND

One of the questions sizzling in a lot of average American minds is about the influence of the assorted pinks, reds, and scarlets in certain labor unions. How did professional troublemakers get hold of the union machinery? What enabled them to misrepresent the great majority of working men—Americans who grit their teeth at the ideas the troublemakers advocate.

It happened in many different ways, of course, but the thing that made it possible in most cases is as familiar to Americans as the backs of their hands. Labor unions, being in effect nothing but representative democracy in action, are subject to the most serious shortcomings of representative democracy. The average member prefers to let "George do it."

"George" may be a nice guy, the salt of the earth. He may be a fuzz brain, honest but incompetent. Or he may be a fellow with an ax to grind. The point is that a fellow with an ax to grind may not have much competition on his way to power. Consequently, a lot of fellows interested in using unions to destroy unions have been able to establish themselves inside the unions, simply because no one took the trouble to keep them out.

Union leaders and followers who detest such antics are starting a belated housecleaning. They resent what has happened as much as their critics, and if they wanted to they'd be well within their rights in pointing out that unions aren't the only place where the practice of representative democracy hasn't always lived up to the theory.

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T HAPPEN

When a soldier takes the field today he is dressed for utility and comfort. The dress uniforms of his officers still reflect the spirit of the day when human beings were clothes horses, but the ordinary fighting man has been sartorially functionalized, as a theorist might say.

The greatest improvement in clothing designed for the long-suffering male has occurred on the home front, however. Quietly, thankfully and thoughtfully, men have been slipping into outfits made exclusively for comfort—loose shirts with open collars and short sleeves, and slacks so baggy that an extra wrinkle isn't noticed. Even men's hats are being made with a view to ventilation and practicality.

There'd be nothing remarkable about this if it hadn't been predicted so freely up till a few years ago that men were enmeshed in a web of circumstances from which there was no escape—said web being a shirt with a tight collar, a necktie, a vest, a coat, and a sort of paraphernalia of propriety that had to be retained for the sake of appearance. To be sure, the new outfits are called "play suits," but that doesn't mean men won't be wearing them to work some day. Or is that something else that "can't happen?"

AN UPSIDE DOWN WAR
By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT

Everything is upside down in this war; it must be a never-ending nightmare to the veteran of 1914-18 who thought he had it all figured out in advance. Horses ride in airplanes where by the book they should be charging across the terrain (Holland, May, 1940); tanks in thundering fleets wheel and collide in the awful summer heat of the Egyptian desert, where Arab steeds and warriors have the field of battle to themselves.

Now in the never-never land of Syria, ex-ally kills ex-ally, because both, in a sense, are combating their original enemy, one in continuing battle, the other in the morass of defeat.

The new Battle of Salum sees massed tanks in action. Carried thousands of miles from home to the blazing sands, these iron monsters of Germany and Britain sweep like men o'war in battle line across the vast desert, unhindered and unharassed for many the mile before they find the point of attack.

In Syria the French fight the melancholy battle of desperation and their resistance is stubborn and hard against an assailant who is not an enemy and has not much heart for his work.

The Germans laid down the rule that it was up to the French to use their own men to defend their own territory; but, that once such territory was successfully invested by the British, the Germans would in their own good time move in for keeps, and the French never would get the territory back.

Thus the soldiers of Vichy are spurred to arms not only by the physical fact that a British invader is on their soil, but by what, for them, is far worse—the specter of irretrievable loss of their empire to the Germans who stamp, already, across half their homeland. Thus they make use of what weapons they can, even the airplanes of the conqueror.

SHOW VALUE OF VARIOUS VITAMINS

Uses Are Discussed by Dr. Clendening

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

We saw yesterday that the substances called vitamins are present largely in fresh foods, and that while they do not add to the energy value of the diet, they are in various ways necessary to the preservation of health. We have found out these facts about the vitamins from animal experiments and the observations of people who have lived a long time on inadequate diets; by inadequate diets we mean diets largely composed of preserved foods or processed foods. The peasant who had black bread was better off than the city dweller who used processed miller's flour until recently when the vitamins have been added to flour.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

We have learned a great deal about many of these vitamins. At the present time a summary of our knowledge is presented in the following list.

Sources of Vitamins

Vitamin A chiefly is brought to us in butter, eggs, and yellow vegetables such as carrots, corn, squash, and pumpkin. It preserves the health of the eyes, skin, and various membranes. Lack of it causes night blindness. The British air men who combat the German raiders are kept in the dark all day and fed Vitamin A so they will be able to spot the enemy in the dark.

Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> is a nerve tonic. Chemically it is thiamin chloride. Animals deprived of it have paralysis and lack of it causes neuritis and paralysis among men.

Riboflavin is found, like Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> in grain, yeast, eggs and most vegetables. It is necessary for the health of the skin. It promotes growth in young animals. It aids in the consumption of oxygen by body cells. Man deprived of it develops peculiar sores of the tongue and lips.

Vitamin C

Vitamin C, chemically ascorbic acid, is found in citrus fruits and strawberries, tomatoes and to a certain extent in all green vegetables. When left out of the diet, it causes scurvy in children and adults, consisting of hemorrhages from the gums and elsewhere in the body.

Nicotinic Acid is found in fresh vegetables and fresh meat. When omitted from the diet, it causes pellagra, a nutritional disease which affects the skin and nervous system.

Vitamin D has a very important source in sunlight. It is also found in fish-liver oils in great abundance. Omission from the diet in children causes rickets.

Vitamin E is the fertility vitamin. In animals it adds to the size and health of litters. It is found in wheat germ oil and cotton-seed oil.

Vitamin K helps coagulate the blood. Used in the bleeding disease of new-born infants and in jaundiced patients who can be prepared for operation so that they do not bleed as ordinary jaundiced patients do. Vitamin K is present in green parts of plants.

Questions and Answers

J. H. S.:—"I have read that the millers are putting thiamine chloride in flour to step up its vitamin content. I also read that baking destroys thiamine chloride. This makes little sense. What are the real facts?"

Answer:—Some thiamine chloride is destroyed by baking. Never more than 10 per cent of the total amount, seldom more than 5 per cent and that in the crust. The question of white bread, whole wheat bread and vitamin reinforced bread is a complicated one which we will take up in an article soon. There are many substances which should be added to white flour to make it a complete food. The present situation is only a makeshift.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas blows up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Amusing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10c and 25c.

"THE GORGON'S MASK"

by Van Wyck Mason

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Precisely one second after the door closed, Captain Hugh North stepped up, suddenly for a man who had been heavily drugged an instant before. He cast a single comprehensive glance about his disordered rooms.

"Nothing amuseurish about dear Miss Belknap," he grimly told him, as his eye encountered a neat little mound of talcum dumped into the washbasin.

Then he snatched up a golf cap, pulled on a gray Panama coat, and, armed with a pair of amethyst-colored glasses. With the celerity of a leopard, he darted to the door and opened it a crack. She was still there, the hall, humming a little tune while waiting nonchalantly for the arrival of the elevator.

What a perfect actress she was! His respect for her rose. Had she not asked for ginger ale, he never would have thought to watch her reflection in the window glass before which he had paused. Lucky he had so faithfully deflected the grief and significant flicker of her eyes towards his highball glass.

A sudden warmth pervaded him. He hadn't been so taken in for years! Why, she had not even asked to have the window closed! Had she pretended to be cold, and her counterfeit of the "companionable" English girl had been flawless. Now, he whispered to himself, let's see just where she goes with her slip from the talcum powder box.

Down the corridor sounded the metallic clatter of the elevator doors sliding back, and North watched his visitor step into the car with a jeering nod to the operator. A split second after the car door closed he was bounding down the corridor towards a fire stair.

Consequently he was out on the sidewalk in plenty of time to observe the spectacled Miss Belknap's exit from the hotel and her entry into a taxi piloted by a shrill-voiced Spaniard. From the shelter of some parked cars he watched her seat herself, after gazing—only perfunctorily—to the left and right; apparently she had no fear of pursuit.

Conscious that the second phase of the great affair was now well under way, North promptly beckoned a grinning Japanese cabby.

"Hey, bochan! Like that girl's looks," said he in quick confidence—"want to see where she lives. Keep along far enough back to avoid suspicion. Do a good job and there's ten dollars in it for you."

"Yes, sir," The Japanese kept expertly out of the direct line of observation.

The cab that contained that singular young woman who had invaded North's room presently turned Ewa side off Nuuanu Avenue to speed down Beretania Street.

North, crouching tensed in the back of his cab, was a little alarmed when the Japanese turned into Maunakea, a street parallel to the infamous Tin Can Alley. Here the street lights revealed the sidewalks crowded with pantalooned Chinese women, babies, and noisily gossiping men. A new smell was in the air, sharply reminiscent of weary old China.

For several minutes North was busy memorizing turns and convenient landmarks when presently the leading car turned into the forbidding confines of River Street. Here the air was even more redolent of fish, mud, and Oriental refuse.

Jolting and lurching over badly paved streets, the leading cab headed towards the harbor down a very narrow street. Progress was slow now, and North twice lost sight of the tall light of the leading cab as swarms of shrill, half-clad children darted across the street in play.

Fervently, North recommended caution to himself—this opportunity must be delicately handled... if he were killed or disabled who would be left to carry on?

How odd to think that the destiny of great nations might well hinge on what took place during the next half-hour! Come what might, North must get back that dead girl's scroll of paper....

Suddenly the cab swerved to the curb and came to a panting standstill. The cabby looked back.

"See, mister?" he whispered through the window. "There go mis-sie."

Not half a block ahead, the tall, white-clad figure of the pseudo Miss Belknap was disappearing into what looked like the entrance of an alley.

"Good work, bochan," North said, giving the Japanese a ten-dollar bill; then he stepped out and swung briskly along towards the girl he had discovered.

What he had taken for an alley proved to be the entrance of a gloomy, maidorous little court, hemmed in by buildings fairly teeming with life.

The building into which his visitor vanished proved to be only two stories in height and had but two bells and name cards in sight. One, old, yellowed, and flyblown, read, "Dr. Wellington Chung"; and the second, comparatively new, bore three words: "Nina Strassin, Photographs."

Aware of a dew which was falling like a fine rain, North briefly considered; then, easing his 32 in its shoulder holster, he cautiously tried the door. Luck was with him, for it gave, and he stood in a darkness which smelled faintly of medicine and disinfectants. Apparently Dr. Chung occupied the ground floor.

North remained poised, listening. From beyond the green-painted door to his left there came not a sound, and no encouraging threat of light beat under it.

Dared he risk the stairs? He wondered.... The false Miss Belknap must be entirely confident that he would sleep until late the next day. Not once had she so much as peered back from her taxi.

As though to decide him, the faintest murmur of voices floated down from above to tell him that Nina Strassin's apartment was not untenanted.

The intelligence captain's nerves were taut.... What if the stairs squeaked? Well, it was a risk he must take.

With his heart thudding, North crept upwards until he arrived before a door painted a lacquer red. There he paused listening.... a sense of deep satisfaction crept over him. Great moments were at hand....

My stomach was usually in a sour and gassy condition. I got very little sleep at night and always felt worn out and tired.

"My condition is much better since that terrible gall bladder trouble has been relieved. I enjoy good sound sleep and feel like my old self again. I have regained lost weight. I can hardly thank TON JON enough for the wonderful way it has helped by long, distressful suffering."

Louis-Conn Fight To Draw Biggest Crowd In Three Years

40,000 Expected At Polo Grounds Tonight; Odds For Louis May Climb To 4-1

(Editor's Note: Robert Riggs, Philadelphia artist noted for his lithographs of fighters and circus scenes, visited Joe Louis' training camp to watch the champion in action and to sketch him. The smooth efficiency of the Louis camp impressed Riggs and he has written the story of his trip for the Salem News special news service.)

By ROBERT RIGGS.

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y., June 18.—(The Special News Service.)—Joe Louis told me he had slowed up some in the ring. Maybe so, but he still has fast enough—fast enough and hard enough, too.

At least that was the impression he gave me as I watched him in action training for his fight with Billy Conn.

When we arrived at Louis' camp, neither Louis nor any member of his staff was to be seen. The only evidence that the camp existed was a sign announcing the time of the next workout.

It was in sharp contrast to Conn's Pompton Lakes camp where the place bustled with people and noise.

Visiting Reform School

After some fifteen minutes, his press representative sauntered in. Louis, he said, was visiting a reform school.

Some four minutes later his secretary sauntered in. One of Louis' managers arrived and was introduced.

He, as well as the others, was quietly courteous. After a time someone said that Louis was probably in his dressing room. And so he was.

The whole place is run in a quiet, tranquil manner. Smooth and thorough.

Ball-Bearing Handles

Joe's skipping rope has ball-bearings in the handles. I don't know if this is unique or not, but I never saw it before and it seemed typical of the entire camp.

Louis is a very quiet man and speaks less than most people, but he smiles often enough and at the right times and answers questions with easy and quite engaging candor.

I liked him. And he is big. Some athletes seem to increase in size the closer they are seen. Louis does.

As I looked at his arms, I was conscious in each case of surprise at their size.

Grinly Confident

He trained hard. He seemed grim. He seemed confident, but grimly determined to take no chances.

He stalked his opponents every second, too. No blocking, just attack.

A two hundred pounder threw a medicine ball, full force, against Louis' abdomen some ten or twelve times.

After the last impact Louis remarked that someone must have put lead in that ball. But he spoke the words absolutely normally. Apparently he had as much breath in him as every.

Find Track Rivalry Fails To Injure

IOWA CITY, Ia. — The High school boy who goes out for track isn't going through as strenuous a program as is popularly believed.

That conclusion was reached by Prof. W. W. Tuttle of the University of Iowa physiology department and Frank H. Walker, graduate student, after completing investigations to determine what chronic effects a season of track competition produced on the High school boy's heart responses.

The physical condition derives a beneficial effect, it was pointed out. Taken from a representative High school, 14 track athletes were selected for the experiment. Each boy participated in a training schedule consisting of about two hours of jogging, sprinting, and distance running, together with work in his special event.

To determine the effects of the training schedule and competition upon the response of the heart to exercise, tests were made at the beginning of the season, in mid-season and at the season's close.

An important point revealed, the two men emphasized, was that the track work did not cause cardiac response changes which usually occur as a result of intensive physical training.

Approximate weights — Louis 200; Conn 177.

Estimated crowd and gate—40,000 spectators; $400,000.

Promoter—Twentieth Century Sporting Club, Mike Jacobs, president.

Officials—Referee and judges to be selected by the N. Y. State Athletic commission.

Weather forecast—Cloudy and warmer; in case rain, fight will be held tomorrow night.

Broadcast—Mutual Broadcasting system (WHK & WHBC), 9 P. M. (E. S. T.).

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, June 18.—The biggest, richest prizefight crowd since the second Louis-Schmeling battle three summers ago will surge into the Polo Grounds tonight to watch Joe Louis defend his heavyweight championship against clever Billy Conn of Pittsburgh.

The big Negro's 18th defense of his title promised to draw more than 40,000 and to gross approximately $400,000, as compared with the $1,000,000 that flowed into Promoter Mike Jacobs' treasury the night Louis crushed Max Schmeling, the man he hated, in less than a round.

The most popular opinion was that something very much like that was due to happen tonight to Conn, though the 23-year-old challenger had plenty of supporters. The odds against the former light heavyweight king were lengthening steadily in the Broadway marts.

Last night it was possible to get odds of 7 to 2 against his winning, and one commission man estimated he would be offering a solid 4-to-1 against Billy by nightfall.

Five Pittsburgh Trains

Five special trains from Pittsburgh and a half-dozen others from scattered cities poured fans into town this morning. Boston fans were known to have chartered 20 planes.

Joe and Billy—the big, deadly-punching brown man and the slim, handsome young gamecock—will square off for their 15-rounder at about 9 P. M. (E. S. T.).

In the outside event of rain they will put it off until tomorrow night. The best information is that the referee will not be Arthur Donovan, who, unfortunately for him, has become known as Louis' "house referee."

A good guess is that Billy Cavanagh, West Point boxing instructor, will be the third man.

Where Dempsey-Firpo Fought

This will be the first heavyweight title fight at the polo grounds since the famous rough-house between Jack Dempsey and Louis Angel Firpo back in the "golden age" of boxing. And it will be Conn's first outdoor appearance here, his other bouts having been staged in Madison Square Garden.

The official weigh-in, scheduled at noon at the offices of the state athletic commission, was expected to show Louis packing an advantage of about 25 pounds.

Like everything else that could be said about Conn, however, this also could be said for Louis. The Bomber has been on edge for several days, anxious to get at the boy he thinks "talks too much."

He expects to stop Billy in two or three rounds. This observer, being conservative, favors the latter figure.

Blue Sox To Meet

The Salem Blue Sox will hold an important meeting at 7 tonight at the home of Joe Bravin, Joe Wukotich, pilot of the local aggregation, requests that all players attend.

BURWELL, Neb.—After riding the same horse six miles to high school every day for four years, Alvin Dearmont abandoned the animal and drove the family automobile to graduation exercises.

RECREATION AND CARROLLS WIN IN CITY LOOP GAMES

Trinity Take Church League Title For First Round

In the opening of second round play in the city softball loop at Centennial park last night the Recreation defeated the Salem China, 10-7, and the Carroll club over-ran the Electric Furnace, 7-2.

A home run by Schaeffer in the first game helped the Recreation outfit to victory, while Hiltbrand's eight walks gave the Carroll club a boost in the second contest.

The Trinity Lutherans, meantime, copped the Church league title by turning in an impressive 18-0 shutout of the Christians. Knepp pounded out a homer, Chapel a two-bagger, for the champions.

BREAK TWO WORLD RECORDS AT MEET

Pacific Coast Conference

Routs Big Ten; Set New Jump, Relay Marks

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—Two new world records were offered for official recognition today as another chapter was written in the annual dual track and field competition between picked teams of the powerful Pacific Coast conference and the Big Ten.

California's four man team surpassed the world mark in the mile relay, barely nosing out the University of Southern California Oregon's Les Steers soared to new heights in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet, 11 inches, and the coast routed the midwestern forces in team points, 80 to 56.

10,000 Fans

High point of the meet, held before some 10,000 fans, came in the final event when the Golden Bear captured the mile relay in record time of 3 minutes, 9.4 seconds.

The time beat the world record of 3 minutes, 19.5 set by a Stanford team last year.

Hard luck hit the invaders in their fifth straight loss to the coast team, in at least one event—the high hurdles. Every one, including the favored and pace setting Bob Wright of Ohio State, fell in the latter stages of the race.

Chuck Horvath of Ohio State got up and managed to finish for third place.

The coasters won nine first places and the mile relay in the 16 event program and swept the high jump. The Big Ten swept one field event—the discus.

TRIBE BEATS A'S; GAINS FULL GAME AS YANKEES LOSE

Indians Welcome 3-2 Win After New York Loses

(By Associated Press)

This is the only eastern trip all season in which the Cleveland Indians do not have to tackle the dangerous New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox in succession.

The schedule for this particular jaunt has the Tribe traveling from New York to Philadelphia to Washington to Boston. Manager Roger Peckinpaugh is a mighty happy man about it today.

The Indians lost three straight in New York to the Yankees, saw their American league lead shaved to a single game, and were staggering on the edge of a precipice when they left the big town. They probably would have been easy prey for the roaring Red Sox.

Instead, they got a breathing spell last night against the Athletics. Although it was what might be termed a short breath, they came out with a 3-2 victory and gained another full game on the Yankees, whose eight-game winning streak was snapped.

Trosky Homers

The Indians wormed their way to victory when Phil Marchildon wild-pitched the winning run across in the eighth. Hal Trosky, who had been in a batting slump, hit a homer for one of Cleveland's other runs.

Another benefit of this segment of the schedule is that it will allow Bob Feller to face every eastern club this trip, the first time he has been able to do it in regular time since he has been with the Tribe. Feller will pitch today.

The defeat of the Yankees was an 8-7 decision handed down by the Chicago White Sox. There were 20 hits in the game and all of them except a homer by Charley Keller were singles. Joe DiMaggio extended his hitting streak to 30 games.

IMMIGRATION IS TIGHTENED BY U. S.

agents of other governments from entering the United States in the guise of immigrants.

Tighten Control Over Aliens

The order issued yesterday to the customs and immigration services to prevent any German nationals from leaving the United States "pending further instructions" was characterized as one more move in a general plan to tighten control over the 5,000,000 aliens now here, as well as over the entrance of thousands more, many of whom describe themselves as refugees from German-occupied territories.

There was a quick repercussion in Germany from the state department's request, made Monday, for withdrawal of consular officials of the reich from this country. Without divulging details of the German reply, DNB, official Nazi news agency, announced that the reich had rejected the American charges of subversive activities as "unfounded and despotism" and had made "the sharpest protest" against the action.

The immediate objective of yesterday's order barring departure of Germans from the United States, official sources said, was to make sure that no German national attempted to evade the White House proclamation "freezing" European funds in the United States.

Regulate Mexican Influx

At the same time, it was pointed out in official quarters, the new restrictions make it possible for the United States to control the movement of Germans into Mexico and other Latin American republics.

Legislation now before congress would empower the President to control the entrance or departure of all aliens or citizens to or from the United States. The President's order, which temporarily serves the same purpose as far as German nationals are concerned, ordered the customs, immigration and border patrol services to "cover all possible means of departure including vessels, trains, buses, airplanes and international border roads so that no German national may leave the country."

CITY WILL BALLOT ON ONE-MILL LEVY

Special Issue For Sewers
To Be Submitted On August 12

Seven fund transferring ordinances were considered by council, six of which were approved as emergency measures. One was given a first reading. They were:

Transfer of $333.75 from the waterworks fund to the water department for its share of the state examination costs.

Transfer of $349.44 from the waterworks fund to public employees retirement fund, city's share.

Transfer of $251.03 from the general fund to the miscellaneous fund for public employees retirement.

Transfer of $95.52 from the general fund to the health fund for employees retirement.

Transfer of $10,000 from the water fund to waterworks maintenance.

Transfer of $500 from water fund to new meters fund (given first reading only).

Transfer of $4,652 from general fund to the S. Broadway improvement project.

L. L. Stoffer, a service department employee, filed a complaint with council in which he charged that his rate of pay had been reduced from 50 cents to 40 cents an hour. He was told, Stoffer said, that the responsibility rested with city council.

Council, however, denied any responsibility in this connection, although Councilman Vincent voiced the opinion that inasmuch as service department jobs had been classified recently, with both jobs and prices being established, it was his understanding that wage rates could not be peremptorily reduced.

While council took no official action, Vincent hit what he termed "buck passing," and said he'd probably make an investigation himself.

Stop For That Cane!

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 18.—City council has enacted an ordinance making it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $25 or 30 days in jail or both, for a motorist not to grant the right of way to any person with impaired sight who carries a distinguishing white cane.
